Comments On Robert E. Criner's Celebrating Diversity: Building Effective Relationships

“Often when people think of motivational speakers, they picture someone who offers cliché anecdotes that do not relate to the real world. I was extremely pleased and relieved to find that your approach and style was different. Your genuineness was apparent and your ability to offer practical solutions to every day struggles made your presentation extremely effective. The inspiration that you instilled in our associates is priceless. To this day MetLife’s Atlanta associates still comment on how much they enjoyed the event.”
